BUSINESS MODELS

Every project is different from another project that's why CodeCrunch had created different outsourcing business models to choose from for clients as per their project requirement. These models are not rigid and the client can combine any business model with any other model based on requirement. As an offshore web development company, we provide fix cost, monthly hiring, and hourly model.

WHITE LABEL SERVICE

Expanding your business doesn't have to be expensive or stressful as white label service mean you can offer more services without investing in new staff, training or equipment. At CodeCrunch we've worked with plenty of businesses over the years, including design, development, and marketing agencies, to produce custom designed white label products. As we're super flexible, we're happy to work as a part of your team or behind the scenes as a sub-contractor and no-name brand service that allows our partners to present work to their clients that they did not produce themselves but which they can present as their own (once paid for of course)

FIXED COST SERVICE

When you know what, you want to build with a clear idea of design and development, Send us your requirements with website development, application development, and design considerations. We will get in touch with you in case of queries. Once we finalize on above, we will be sending you the cost and timeline for your project.

DEDICATED DEVELOPMENT RESOURCES

Cost effective

Choosing Dedicated Development Resources and hiring dedicated, highly experienced resource(s) will be helping you to reduce the employee payroll budget, infrastructure cost, recruitment cost as well as offers a very reasonable hourly cost.

Non-disclosure agreement

NDA is strictly followed at Dedicated Development Resources and we take full responsibility not to share the information with anyone. We adhere to the latest security measures, so your data will be 100% secured against any unauthorized access.

Handpick your team member

We will be finding the best resources as per your preference. You will be getting Flexibility to choose your team member who will be directly interacting with you to update on each small and big progress in the work.

Weekly model

To make the payment easy for clients, we are here with weekly payment model where you will be paying for the dedicated resource you hire on a weekly basis.

No lock-in period

We offer DDE with no lock-in period. So, you can use the services as and when required.
